DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-14 are presented for reconsideration on the merits.

Response to Amendment

The amendment response filed August 1, 2006, has been received and entered. The extension of time filed therewith has been received and entered. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Edwardson et al (US 5763411) in view of Chen et al (US 6761903), both cited on enclosed PTO-892 Form.

Claims are drawn to method of preventing scarring from injury sites comprising applying to an injury site a bandage material coated with a defibrinogenating agent or fibrinolytic agent.

Edwardson et al teach coating bandages, sutures, or other solid support with fibrin materials. Note abstract and col. 26, lines 25-35.

Art Unit: 1651

Chen et al teach coating agents defibrinogenating agents, like ancrod and fibrinolytic agents, like nPA or fenofibrate. Note col. 5, lines 30-35 and col. 33, lines 15 20 and 25-35 and col. 34, line 47.

The claims differ from Edwardson et al in that the claimed coating agents are not disclosed.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to replace fibrin monomer coating disclosed by Edwardson et al with coating agents as disclosed by Chen et al in order to provide for a method to prevent scarring at injury sites. Clearly one of skill would have been motivated to provide bandages to prevent scarring and to coat them with these well known ingredients in the art is clearly an obvious modification of Edwardson et al. In the absence of persuasive evidence to the contrary the claims are rendered prima facie obvious because one of skill in the art would have expected successful results.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed August 1, 2006, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., minimizing scarring by directly applying a bandage that contains defibrinogenating agent to the site to reduce the levels of fibrin at the site) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Therefore, the argument that Edwardson et al teach away from the claimed invention is not deemed persuasive. Also, in response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

All claims fail to be patentably distinguishable over the state of the art discussed above. Therefore, the claims are properly rejected.

No claims are allowed.
